RECENT GOSSIP IN THE BIG TOWN

(By Gotham Knickerbocker.)

New York, Dec. 6.—"Your engagement is announced to a man who is my husband."

"He was forced to marry me at the point of a gun in the hands of my father. On the day that our twins were born he basely deserted me. I have never seen or heard of him since."

Girls, if you get a letter just like this don't faint. Don't knife your sweetheart and don't eat bichloride or leap into the cold, cold waves.

Don't rub your head, either, to make sure you are not taking part in a movie scenario. You have simply become a member of a new club now being formed by some person, probably a woman, who has funny ideas of a joke.

Moreover, your social standing is pronounced good. The club founder only selects members of the best families.

The United States postal authorities would like to have a chat with the person of the funny ideas, for the charter members—including the young men—didn't see the joke at all. There came pretty near being a score of little tragedies in Gotham. One of the girls who got a letter was already married to the young man in question, so she felt especially depressed.

The twenty-five or so couples might have remained unknown to each other until this day had not two of the male victims appealed to the same handwriting expert in an indignant vein. He compared the two letters and saw they were the work of one person. Then little by little other "poison pen" missives began to come in. Twenty-three are known now, but probably others are in existence and haven't been reported.

The letters are mailed from near an insane asylum and are undoubtedly the work of an exorcisingly clever nut.

This item is for newspaper men only. Take warning, fellow key punchers; if you aren't up in deduction, get a manual and learn to deduce right away. A. C. Doyle recommended as an authority. Fearful competition's on its way, if you don't hurry up and get abreast of the times you'll find yourself out in the gutter and a more highly trained man sticking his thumb and first finger through the holes in your scissors.

It's all on account of the Columbia School of Journalism. Perhaps you guessed it. Yes, sir, there young men are being taught to see five and a half reels of a six reel detective story motion picture, and then sit right down and deduct the last half reel. In this way they will be fitted by graduation time to solve the Guldensuppe mystery or find the man who shot Russell Sage between night fall and the first edition dead line and are going to make the rule of thumb, non-scientific old fashioned gentlemen of newspaperdom turn grey with fright. Working it all out, discover Dorothy Harriet Camille Arnold.

Along about this time of the year expect Christmas "don't" lists. In order that you may not be disappointed this year, I give you yours here. It was compiled by Postmaster Edward M. Morgan:

"Don't wrap your articles in too much paper. It makes the package heavy."

"Don't write Merry Christmas and other inscriptions near the address."

"Don't wrap breakable goods in a paper parcel."

"Don't put a letter in a package sent fourth rate. Pay first class."

"Don't seal your parcel."

"Don't leave meat or other perishable goods at a sub-station. Bring them to the main post office."

"Don't put a two cent stamp on a package calling for a ten cent stamp. It will come back to you."

"Don't send valuable goods without insurance."

"Don't send flowers tied in paper. Put them in a wooden box."

"Don't wait until the day before Christmas to mail your package. Mail them early."

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Dec. 6.—The fair which was held in the M. E. Church the past week was largely attended and enjoyed by all. Much credit is due to the young people of Kerhonkson who made it a success.

Mr. Van Kleeck received a car load of automobiles on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherman have returned from their honeymoon and are now stopping with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Christiana. Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Etten, who were recently married.

Mrs. William Geary, who has been confined to her home with a severe cold, is able to be out again.

Don't forget the movies in the K. of P. Hall Saturday night.

Alice Sheldon spent Wednesday evening with Jennie Martine.

Mrs. Edward Marshall spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Geary have returned home, after spending some time with friends at Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Graze have moved into David Burger's house. Mr. and Mrs. Burger have moved to Kingston, where he is employed.

Arrested For Assault.

Andrew Decker, a former convict, has been arrested for forcing his way into the home of Charles Ward in Middle Hope, south of Marlborough, a week ago, and beating Mrs. Ward into insensibility and taking $500 and a gold watch. The woman has identified Decker as her assailant. He is a member of a notorious family. He has a brother serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the murder of Daniel Gardner in Plattekill about 15 years ago.

"Condition" Your Own Tobacco

Another Big Advantage of VELVET SMOKAROLS—
the Great Tobacco Triumph

Haven't you often found that your smoking tobacco dries and hardens? Steam heat will do it; or changeable climate.

If your tobacco is in tin or bag, nothing can be done about it for immediate use. But when the atmosphere affects the tobacco in a VELVET SMOKAROL you can quickly "condition" it if you

Breathe Through the SMOKAROL
Before Filling Your Pipe

This "conditioning" restores the SMOKAROL to its natural softness. It will also aid it to slip easily and snugly into the pipe bowl, and your tobacco will be just right for a cool, enjoyable smoke.

CARLS GREATEST OF ALL TOYTOWNS

Colossal Exhibit of Playthings That Delight the Hearts of Boys and Girls—A Congress of Dolls That Arrived Despite the War.
(By The Freeman's Special Xmas
Writer.)

Holiday shopping at Carls Rite Store started off Saturday with tremendous crowds and wonderful selling. Again this great storehouse of Santa Claus has begun the period of Christmas helpfulness to Kingstons people and others residing within a radius of a hundred miles from this

...and the decorated wines from this city. All of Carl's former successful exhibitions are outdone this year. This store's display of terra surpasses anything of its character ever seen in Kingston. Besides the great Toy town in the basement, nearly the whole front of the store is devoted to the exhibition of toys. It fairly compares with "Candy City" in New York. Thousands of parents and childrer viewed it Saturday with fascinating interest. Truly, it is a gathering of originality and newness in toys, the scope and variety of which has no counterpart in this city. The spirit of Santa Claus closely hovering by, makes it all the more magically persuasive. It carries the spectators' thoughts through the mazes of Fairyland.

The Carl Company, on account of the European war, had great difficulty in securing German talent and

...in securing German dolls and other toys, but by persistent effort managed to bring through to this country more than enough to fill all demands. Every kind of doll, from the big, haughty queen down to the poor little rag baby, is a member of Carls Congress of Dolls. Every little girl is welcome to see the gay assemblage and pick some brown or

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 6, 1915.

Postmaster-General Burleson recently has caused to be published a "list of first, second and third class post offices whose presidential postmasters have not been appointed since March 4, 1913," with the intimation that appointments probably will be made during the winter. There are some 1,400 places to be filled and every State in the Union is included. Like many other things Mr. Burleson has done, there is a political object in the publicity he has given these postmasterships. A number of Democratic members of Congress have been threatening to show independence of the master's voice, as it emanates from the White House, and Mr. Burleson takes occasion on the eve of the reassembling of Congress to set up a "pie" counter and say in effect: "Here is the pie which is not yet distributed. You can see how much your share should be. If you are good, you will get it. If you are not good, it will be withheld."

In the reorganization of the House of Representatives for the new session of Congress 37 of the 58 committee chairmanships go to Southerners. The only chairmanship of importance allowed the North is that of the committee on appropriations, of which Fitzgerald of New York remains head. Southern Democratic congressmen constitute a majority in their party caucuses and through the power there wielded have a determining influence on much of the legislation passed by the House. The South is devoted largely to agriculture and lacks the interest in manufacturing which most of the North possesses. The Southerners in Congress show scant concern for matters of vital importance to this section. The present situation will not change for the better until the Republicans, who know no sectional lines in their legislation, again come into control.

Since the election on November 2 county boards of election have been engaged in compiling a list of the enrolled voters in preparation for next year's primaries and the figures for some of the counties, now available, are significant of the trend of things politically in this State. Republican enrollment has increased and Democratic enrollment declined. The number of declared voters of the Progressive party has dwindled. Everything indicates a return of Republican seceders to the ranks and a united and harmonious party for the gubernatorial and presidential campaign. So many Republicans have enrolled that the party primaries will be more representative than before. The will of the majority will be expressed for candidates and platform. Only by the Republican party is the spirit of the new direct nomination system entered into and exemplified.

The upper house of Congress always has been a deliberative and more or less dignified body. It stands strongly for precedent and senatorial prerogative. Not infrequently it has been so "deliberate" that the interests of the country have suffered from its failure to make progress with needed legislation. An effort now is being made to limit debates and prevent protracted filibusters in the Senate with the beginning of the new session of Congress. The spectacle of a handful of senators tying up the entire business of Congress by talks and readings on anything or everything except the legislation awaiting action is not an edifying one to the country. The filibusters have for their object the defeat of the will of the majority and rarely are successful. The Senate still can be deliberate after placing a reasonable limit on debate—and incidentally restricting the debate to the subject at issue. It is understood, however, that the action of the Democratic Senatorial caucus last week indicates an indefinite postponement of this reform. If it comes at all, it will be through the Republican efforts.

In wars of the past more soldiers have succumbed to disease than to the bullets of the enemy. In the present war modern sanitation has won its greatest victory. Sir James Crockett Brown asserted at a recent meeting of the English Sanitary Association that the health of the men in the field actually has been better than the average health of men of similar states of life of the same average age at their homes in the various countries. Typhoid fever has been the chief disease menace of soldiers and claimed many victims in this country's latest war, that with Spain. Epidemics of a most serious character broke out in the mobilization camps. Typhoid has been controlled in the European war by simple precautions, which every community and every individual should appreciate the importance of. First, the water provided the soldiers has to be free of any possible suspicion of contamination, and second, very careful protection is afforded against flies to prevent them from carrying contaminated material to the food or persons of the soldiers. Apparently no very considerable reliance is placed in vaccination against typhoid. This form of vaccination is required of National Guardsmen in this State and its necessity if not efficacy may be questioned.

TEN AND TWENTY YEARS AGO.

December 5, 1905.—Dr. J. C. Norton of 43 Crown street gave up the practice of dentistry after 35 years. The board of supervisors approved the bond of $20,000 given by Superintendent of Poor Cornelius Van Orden. Judson Hashbrouck and Canine being his sureties. There were 56 inmates in the Alms House. Oscar Harrison, aged 23, son of John H. Harrison of the Kingston City Water Department, was found slain in a house two miles from Woodstock. Peter Crispell Basten, a resident of Kingston since 1858, died from paralysis. Judge Clearwater delivered an address on "Delusions" in the city library. December 6, 1905.—Thomas J. Cusack was elected grand knight of the Knights of Columbus. The luxs Osceola, Adams and Street laid up for the winter. The Rev. F. J. Belcher, former pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, died in New York.

December 5, 1895.—Deep snow fell in the mountains. The Kingston Retail Merchants' Association at its annual banquet in the Mansion House entertained a number of Poughkeepsie business men. Lela Floyd and George Rhymer were married by the Rev. F. J. Belcher of Wurts Street M. E. Church. Mrs. Margaret Murray died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kelly, 172 Greenkill avenue.

December 6, 1895.—A dress rehearsal for a historical pageant, in which 300 persons were to participate, was held in the Kingston Opera House. The Peckham Motor Truck and Wheel Works received large orders from London and Dublin. Rapid Hose Company increased its membership to 53. Hon. Wallace Bruce lectured on "Wit and Wisdom" in the Liscomb Opera House.

New York Crop Notes.

In New York state the largest farm receipts came in November and December, and the smallest in February. Counting only sales of crops, however, 50 per cent of the receipts came in the last three months of the calendar year, and the lowest percentage of crop sales in June. New York leads this year in the total production of cabbage, followed by Wisconsin, which has about a third as much. Eight states, New York, Wisconsin, Ohio, Michigan, Colorado, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota, in the order named, contain more than half the total cabbage area in the United States. New York is one of the three leading states in the commercial production of peppermint and spearmint, according to the federal department of agriculture. It is outranked by Michigan and Indiana, where the mints are grown on muck soils. Most of that grown in New York is on upland in Wayne county. More than 300 pounds of the plants are required to yield one pound of oil.

Of the various New York crops, that of corn is slightly less than last year, with the price to the producer six cents less per bushel. There are 2,000,000 bushels more of wheat this year than last, with the price about five cents less on the bushel. Oats made 54,000,000 bushels last year; barley 2,500,000 as against 2,100,000 in 1914; apples 5,500,000 bushels as against 16,500,000 in 1914. The average price to producer, however, is $2.25 a barrel as against $1.40 a year ago. The production of wheat, rye, barley and oats in the northern hemisphere is approximately one-fifth larger, for each crop, than last year, according to statistics from the international institute of agriculture at Rome, Italy. Denmark is the only country with less than last year's crop of wheat; Italy and the Netherlands have fallen off in rye production; Denmark, Great Britain and Rumania have less barley than in 1914; and Scotland and the Netherlands, less oats. Figures are missing for Austria, Belgium, France and Germany. Four continents are represented: Europe, America, Asia and Africa. Tunisia is the one country listed in Africa; India and Japan represent Asia.

Children of Mary Officers. On Sunday afternoon the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Peter's Church held its annual meeting and the following officers were elected: Miss Anna Steinglen, president; Miss Anna Beckenwald, vice president; Miss Gertrude Kogler, secretary; Miss Gertrude Cook, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Gehring, sacristan.

Would Close Factories.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"The lawyer next door has been forced into bankruptcy with big liabilities but no assets to speak of." "Why, a lawyer's assets are his liabilities."—Baltimore American.

"Soring, my dear, is the sign of an easy conscience." "Hubby, there are times when I wish you weren't so contented with your past career."—Detroit Free Press.

A Running Account—"I bought this arm chair on the installment plan." "Easy terms?" "Rather. A dollar down and a dollar whenever the collector can catch me."—Boston Transcript.

"I don't think that doctor knows his business." "Couldn't he diagnose your ailment?" "Not to suit me. Says it isn't serious enough to require a trip to Florida."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Willis—"Your son has the true college spirit, you say?" "Gillie." "Yes. He firmly believes that he is the greatest drinker in the greatest class that ever was graduated from the greatest institution in the country."—Puck.

"Do you think there is any way of bringing your constituents around to your way of thinking?" "My way of thinking hasn't anything to do with it," replied Senator Sorghum. "My job is to keep up with their way of thinking and see if I can change my mind every time the majority change theirs."—Washington Star.

Safety First. Detective "Billy" Burns returned the other day from a tour through the country in the interest of the Bankers' Association. He was profoundly impressed with the merits of Western Pennsylvania as a place of residence.

Nothing like it for a man that's inclined to be a bit low-spirited," said Mr. Burns. "They don't take any chances with you there at all. Why, if you go into a store and ask for a bit of clothes-line, the storekeeper will open a big book.

"What do you want this rope for?" he asks. "The old woman needs it to hang the wash on." "And what's your name?" the storekeeper asks. "Herman Wilhelm Pfeiffer." "G'wan," says the storekeeper, closing the book. "You can't get no rope here without a prescription."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Radical Change.

Herman Garland, the novelist, said at the Century Club in New York: "Henry James, I see, has abandoned his American citizenship and taken out British naturalization papers." Mr. Garland reached over and pressed with his stick a button in the wall.

"I can hardly believe the current report, though," he added, "that Mr. James proposes hereafter to write English."—New York Telegraph.

The Difference.

Margaret Illington, the actress, tells of Sarah Bernhardt's last repertory engagement in America. Madame was giving performances every day at the Century Club, where afternoon she reserved for rest. A company in Philadelphia was playing "Madame X" at the same time that Bernhardt was playing it, and the manager desired his players to see the divine Sarah in it. They could get away only on one day—Friday. So the Philadelphia manager went to Bernhardt's manager and asked him if it would be possible for Bernhardt to give a Friday matinee. Her manager eager to please the Philadelphian, but dubious, finally agreed to give up her afternoon of rest. Her manager went back to the lobby in a daze. "Bernhardt is more than mortal; she's capable of the work of 10 men," he told the Philadelphian. "She is going to give that extra matinee Friday."

Suddenly the ticket seller poked his head out of his cage. "Extra matinee Friday!" he yelled. "Good gracious! What does that woman think I'm made of?"—Green Book Magazine.

Knew the Business.

The leading druggist in a certain suburb wanted an apprentice. One applicant for the situation had been employed in a fish store, but he seemed a likely lad.

"Your handwriting's good enough," said the druggist. "Can you do mental arithmetic?" "Yes, sir," replied the lad. "What would 34 pounds of salmon at eight cents a pound be?" "Rad, sir!" was the prompt answer.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Break in Water Main.

Sunday morning the water main on Broadway at the West Shore broke and for a time the residents of that vicinity enjoyed the sight of a miniature geyser as the water spouted above the pavements. Workmen in the employ of the water department turned off the water and tore up the pavement in an effort to locate the break. The brick pavement was taken up in several places before the break was located. Residents near the West Shore were unable to get water for a time while the water was turned off.

"Turned Up" This Evening.

The play "Turned Up" will be given this evening at the Kingston Opera House under the auspices of Kingston Council, United Commercial Travelers. Judging from the amount of time and labor put forth the show this evening will be one of the best amateur performances ever put on in the city. The show will be entirely by local talent and among the names will be found some of Kingston's best amateur performers.

Mrs Estelle Wells—of Our Women's Apparel Shop

Announces for Tomorrow

An Important Sale of Women's Afternoon and Evening Dresses

Expressly planned for the social season and presenting very special values at these prices

$16.50 $19.50 $25 $29.50 $35 $39 $45

comprising a very large and complete offering of dresses—all of them the exclusive selections of our Mrs Estelle Wells—appreciated so much by those who demand individuality and fine workmanship.

Many of these dresses were purchased at unusual reductions from regular prices, enabling the retail prices to be made correspondingly lower than usual.

Included are the season's latest fashionable styles, materials, colors and combinations, for dancing, afternoon wear, parties and bridge dresses, or more formal assemblies.

In no sense need this offering be taken to be a number of dresses of the same style, for there are no two alike—this making it unusually attractive from the standpoint of the variety offered for selection.

Inasmuch as this social season promises to be an unusually brilliant one, this week's presentation offers a very welcome occasion for satisfactory preparation.

A Dickens Character.
Smike, Charles Dickens' character in Nicholas Nickleby, seems to have been drawn from the life. Said the author in a letter apropos of that novel: "The race of those Yorkshire schoolmasters cannot be easily exaggerated. I have kept down strong truth and thrown as much comicality over it as I could rather than disgust the weary reader with its fouler aspects."
Better Still.
A young millionaire said to a beautiful girl on a moonlit night between two dances, "Don't you like that Shakespearean quotation: 'The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel.'"

Concert for Tuberculosis Hospital.

The program of organ, voice and violin music, as arranged for the concert to be given at Holy Cross Church, on Tuesday evening, is an exceptionally fine one. All of the numbers to be given by Organist Norman Taylor, Miss Marchant, organist, Mrs. Coer, vocalist, and Ford Hummel, violinist, are such as to delight any audience of music lovers.

This announcement should of itself bring out an audience that will fill the church. But that is not all of the matter. Every person who attends this concert, making his or her silver contribution, will be giving pleasure for years to come to a large number of twenty sick people at the tuberculosis hospital, for it means a good piano owned by the hospital, and kept in order, and with that as a necessary accompaniment to other things, it means many an hour of entertainment which shall cheer and stimulate those who must spend their days in the hospital.

Those who desire to contribute for pleasure and recreation, if you cannot attend the concert, which will be a pity, all things considered, please send your contribution either by express or by mail to Mrs. J. N. Reed, 21 Green street, who is looking after the particular phase of the hospital work.

Dear Madam:

These days, more than ever, the vogue of the practical gift is abroad in the land, and the celebrated order of S P U G S is coming into its own.

We are learning that it is better to give usefully than uselessly.

What father or husband or brother is there who does not see more real good will toward man in a soft Bath Robe or Fireside House Coat than in a whole Christmas tree full of tinsel and baubles and gew-gaws.

In the Live Store it is this spirit of practical and useful giving which pervades and in our diverse selection of wardrobe comforts for men, ranging from

to Spitalfield Silk Scarfs, utility is invariably joined to beauty and economy.

And now, Madam, we particularly invite you to pay us a shopping call. You will find here the widest possible range of men's gift ideas—service which is intelligent, capable and courteous—and above all prices which deal so lightly with the pocketbook that giving becomes a pleasure instead of a burden.

HOTEL MARTINIQUE

The Inside of the Hotel

Is the part that counts with the guest. The architect doesn't make a hotel, he only designs it. The builder doesn't make a hotel, he only builds it.

Don't select your stopping place from the outside. Look behind the front wall and see what is back of it.

The success of the Hotel Martinique is the personality back of it, which shows in the lobby, at the desk, in the restaurants and in the rooms.

The telephone attendants, the mail clerks, the room maids, even the bellboys reflect the personality back of the "House of Taylor." We don't preach prices only. We have pleasant, homelike rooms from $1.50 up.

In one and all you will find reflected the careful and instant idea of guest-service that dominates every moment of your stay.

I, the undersigned, being the clerk of said court, do hereby certify that the petition of Peter Sloan, O'Donohue Company, a domestic corporation, duly verified by Alfred Sloan, its president, wherein said petition prays for an order authorizing it to assume another corporate name, to-wit: the name Republic Can & Metal Company, Inc., and upon filing the certificate of the secretary of the state, and the certificate of the name which such corporation proposes to assume is not the name of any other domestic corporation, and that the name which he desires so nearly resembles it as to be calculated to deceive and upon filing proof that a copy of the petition herein and of the notice of motion were duly filed with the secretary of state, and upon filing the proof by affidavits, showing that notice of presentation of said petition has been duly published once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper of the county of Ulster, in which county such corporation has a business office, and the court being satisfied by said evidence that the petition is true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed, and that the petition has been duly authorized, and that notice of the presentation of the petition, as required by law, has been made.

Now, on motion of Peter Sloan, O'Donohue Company, for the said petitioner, and no one opposing, it is ORDERED that said petition be and it is so ordered, and that the petition herein, Peter Sloan, O'Donohue Company, be and it is hereby authorized to assume another corporate name, to-wit: the name Republic Can & Metal Company, Inc., on and after the 31st day of December, 1915, and it is FURTHER ORDERED AND DECREED that this order be and it is so ordered, and that a copy of this order be published once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published in the county of Ulster, within ten (10) days after the entry hereof.

BUTTERFLY BALL DANCE REHEARSALS

The state armory today is the scene of great activity. Carpenters are sawing and hammering men are arriving in tall cedars and little green fir trees, pretty ladies with big pinks on are planting gay tulips in green window boxes. Co. M boys are running up and down stepladders, and down in the mess hall on the one table lie at it heaps of dogwood and apple blossoms in confused masses which under the capable direction of S. I. Page of Boston will assume order and system and make the old drill hall blossom like a garden in May.

In the midst of all the confusion and bustle twenty charming young ladies move through the graceful figures of a butterfly ballet. Their street suits are in odd contrast to the dressy attire they carry. Perfectly oblivious to the noises about them their attention is riveted on Madame Emmeline Inkitt, the ballet mistress, who conducts her rehearsals with a strictness of purpose which imbues her pupils with the desire to achieve perfection in their work. Three separate dances will be performed by the ballet and constant rehearsals have made them move with the precision of professionals.

The soloists Lada Gadesco and Miss Ellen Hasbrouck will not rehearse in the armory until Wednesday evening when the entire program will be gone through in costume.

One of the most charming bits on the program will be the period dancing, showing three distinct types of the dance during the past three centuries. The dance of 1700 will be demonstrated by Miss Marguerite Dolson and Miss Rose Kemble in colonial costume. The manner and style of 1800 by Miss Mildred Hiltman and Roset Loughran in wait-time dress. The very latest dances of 1900 will be performed by two unknown dancers who will wear masks. Not even their most intimate friends will know them. This touch of mystery will lend excitement to a performance whose artistic perfection no one will question.

Early this morning Van Etten and Logan's big motor truck backed majestically up to the armory door. Three large sized heavy-bodied muscular men lifted out a gauzy butterfly weighing all of 10 ounces. They formed a hollow square around the insect not so much to prevent its escaping as to keep the breeze off of its frail beauty and bore it tenderly inside.

This specimen the only one in captivity was constructed by Rodney B. Osterhout and will be electrically illuminated and swung over the upper end of the drill hall.

Friends who say Mr. Osterhout conveying his insect to the armory this morning assisted by his elaborators thought the motor truck was a bit representing Hercules struggling with the heaviest winded birds.

Mr. Logan kindly donated the use of the truck to shield the electric butterfly from the elements.

All butterflies and flowers made for the ball must be in the armory not later than Tuesday.

The door of the armory will not open Thursday evening until 7:30. Cigars and cigarettes will be on sale in the big army wagon just inside the door. Miss Anne Heaney is in charge.

Lemonade will be served from a conveniently located booth in the center of the hall. This booth is in charge of the daughters of Isabella, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Howley.

Refreshments will be for sale after ten o'clock under the balcony. Miss Diley has charge of the supper room which will be conducted independently of the ball the receipts not being for the hospital.

There will be no charge for checking wraps in the ladies cloak room. The L. B. Van Wagonen Co. have in their show window today a wonderful display of butterflies painted in water colors. These will form part of the wall decorations of the armory.

There will be between 500 and 600 seats in the armory all of which are splendidly located for seeing the entertainment. The entrance is free.

The dance will be from 10 o'clock to midnight.

Auto Overturns With Young Men.
Arthur Freeman, James Hendricks, John P. man and Joe Marshall of Highland and Frank Becker of Clintonville met with an accident which might have been a very serious one. The car overturned near Middleboro. The loads were very heavy and the car was overturned. The car was overturned and the mud guards bent. The car was overturned and the mud guards bent. The car was overturned and the mud guards bent.

McLean's Busy Orchestra.
McLean's orchestra will play for the dance of the All Wilbur Baseball Club on December 8, for the Brewster Baseball Club, December 9, the Rhinebeck High School December 10 and the Washington Hall dance December 11.

Parent-Teachers Association.
A meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held in Public School No. 2, (Lyster Academy), on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Absent Minded.
Her neighbors were discussing the character of a venerable woman whom they esteemed to be wise in her generation, but a young man said it struck him that she showed great lack of wisdom in one respect. "What is that," inquired one of the group. "What," said the young man, "she always puts out her tongue to catch soft words when it's time to hard."

A WIDE-AWAKE TOBACCO COMPANY

Results Achieved by Young Men Who Are Handling a Prosperous Business—Mullen's Tobacco Pleasing
Thousands of Men.

(By The Freeman's Special Xmas
Writer)

One of Kingston's most important and successful enterprises is Mullen's tobacco factory at 121 North Front street. Its destiny is being guided by keen vision, red-blooded live-wire young men, who are rapidly pushing to the front rank of tobacco manufacturers in New York state. The company's officers are Charles J. Mullen,

ROBERT MULLEN

President J. C. Mullen, vice president M. J. Mullen, secretary and treasurer—a trio who embody rare business wisdom, sterling character and honest purpose.

The motto at this factory is "no fancy boxes but the real goods at lowest cost." From the time the cases of leaf tobacco are opened until the finished product is ready for market perfection in every detail is the aim and the most rigid care is taken to insure absolute cleanliness and sanitary conditions in the production of Mullen's. Every appliance used in the handling of the tobacco is subjected to close inspection for cleanliness. Each leaf is treated to a process of sweating that reduces the remaining nicotine to a minimum, with the result that a man enjoying normal health may smoke Mullen's tobacco without experiencing that "sleepy stupor" which is the result of nicotine poisoning. Hundreds of thousands of people will buy a pound or two of Mullen's tobacco for Christmas gift-giving—first because it is highly acceptable and pure—second because it is inexpensive and will therefore not tax a slim purse heavily.

JOSEPH C. MULLEN

Will Be Appreciated.
What would be more appropriate than a set or two of Mullen's tobacco for the boys or girls bought at Christmas?—Advertisement.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)
The boss once did approach us. With his stern and haughty air. He waved his arms, shook his fists. Then to us he did declare:
"When you compose a column Of that miscellany junk. A jingle should begin it. Then it won't look quite so punk."

Charles Brickley picks Harvard as the 1916 football champion. Despite the fact that Cornell beat Harvard 19 to 0 and despite the fact that Cornell and Pittsburgh didn't lose a game throughout the season.
In face of the fact that Cornell scored 287 points in nine games against 161 by Harvard in the same number of games. Brickley thinks Harvard had the better team. Charles explains that he picks Harvard not because it's his Alma Mater but because:
(1) When Cornell beat Harvard, the "Crimson team" hadn't reached its top form.
(2) Cornell couldn't have run up 41 points on Yale.
Isn't it funny how an education at Harvard will twist a person's viewpoint?

Gunboat Smith defeated Jess Willard over the 26 round decision route. Jim Coffey knocked out Gunboat in four rounds and Frank Moran disposed of Coffey in three rounds. And now you may prepare for the inevitable—Moran's claim, that he is a better man than Willard.

Attention! Humane Society. Jim Gaffney probably plans to have the tongues of his players removed. He recently said: "My Braves must not use profanity next season. I will stamp out the practice at any cost."

Peter Volo, the champion trotter, will be retired to the stud next season, according to the announcement of his owner, W. E. D. Stokes. This move is a big surprise to the harness world, as Peter Volo will not be five years old until January 1, and seems now at the height of his wonderful career. He holds the two, three and four year old records, and has not reached the limit of his speed.

The Yale Grads Wail.
Off in the still night,
Ere slumber's chain has bound me,
Pond memory brings the light
Of other days around me.
The shouts, the cheers,
Of bygone years
The words of praise then spoken
The stars that shone,
Now dimmed and gone,
The Eli crown now broken,
Thus, in the still night,
Ere slumber's chain has bound me,
Sad memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

"Doc" White, once-time White Sox pitcher, who was released recently as manager of the Vernon (Cal.) Club has just inherited, through the death of his father, $25,000.

Lee Fohl, manager of the Indians, takes rank as one of the best little prognosticators in existence. We had overlooked the fact that Fohl called the turn on the world series until Jacob Starkey, 3204 Holland avenue, Erie, Pa., sent us a clipping of Fohl's prediction made a week before the series began. Fohl said:

"I cannot see anything but the Red Sox for the world's championship. Five games ought to settle it. I think the Sox will make a runaway race of it. Alexander may beat the Sox in the first game, but they will get him after that."
Alexander, as you will remember, won the first game, the Sox beat him in the second start and the Sox won out in five games.

Tom Jones, guardian angel for Jess Willard, saw Fred Fulton in action a short time ago, and this was his opinion:
"Fulton is a pretty good scrapper. He hits hard and can fight. He looks frail but looks are deceptive. I think he's better than any championship contender outside of Moran."
Is Tommy press-agenting Fred die?

"Cupid" Black, who performed guard duty for the so-called "football team" that represented Yale this season, labors in a bakery during the summer months. He rescues the bread from the ovens after the bread has been baked sufficiently.

The Cardinals spent $1,957 for baseball during 1915 against $2,362 in 1914.

Some folks think peanuts a blessing; others take the opposite view. Included in the latter squad is a person named Quigley who absorbs education in the University of Pennsylvania. Quigley, after hard work, landed the job as varsity quarterback on the eleven. He celebrated by eating peanuts. The coach caught him in the act and fired him off the squad. He said Quigley had broken the training rule.

Quigley felt badly about it. That is surprising. Some folks, after viewing Pennsylvania's gridiron showing in 1915 would think it a blessing not to have been forced to play on the team.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1457—A Popular Practical Style. Girls' Dress With Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

As here shown checked gingham was used with white linen for trimmings. This design will develop nicely in serge, plaid, suiting or wool mixtures. It is also nice for linen, pique, linene, velveteen, corduroy or poplin. The fronts are finished with slot tucks underneath which the closing may be effected. The skirt is a four gore model with a charming "crown up" flare. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires 3 yards of 40 inch material for a 4 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Mahan (Harvard), fullback; games played, 8; points scored, 71; age, 22; height, 5.11; weight, 175.
Average weight of backfield, 177 pounds.
Average weight of line and end, 199 pounds.
Team averages: Weight, 191 pounds; height, 5.11 1/2 inches; age, 22 years.
Each member of the above first team participated in an average of eight games. The total points scored by the eleven men is 617, which means that if this team played together and each individual maintained his season-long scoring average the team would roll up 77 points per game.

Second Game.
Squires (Ills.), end.
Abell (Colgate), tackle.
Fitzgerald (Notre Dame), guard.
Cool (Cornell), center.
Dunnigan (Minn.), guard.
Shull (Chicago), tackle.
Shelton (Cornell), end.
Russell (Chicago), quarter.
Hastings (Pittsburgh), halfback.
Rutherford (Neb.), halfback.
Bierman (Minn.), fullback.

Third Team.
Soucy (Harvard), end.
Boughton (O. S. U.), tackle.
Hogg (Princeton), guard.
Hansen (Minn.), center.
Schlachter (Syracuse), guard.
Gilman (Harvard), tackle.
Bastion (Minn.), end.
Williamson (Pitts.), quarter.
Coffal (Notre Dame), halfback.
King (Harvard), halfback.
Fallman (Rutgers), fullback.

The first eleven, in our opinion, is an unbeatable combination—a team made up of stone wall linemen, of the fastest, toughest ends in the country and backfield men of such power that nothing but a steel and concrete wall could effectively halt them.
Pete Russell of Chicago is a wonderful quarterback. Williamson, the Pittsburgh captain, was another brilliant pivot man, yet both must step aside and give to Charlie Barrett of Cornell the honor of quarterback on the first All-American eleven.

Barrett the Peerless Quarter.
Barrett, in the opinion of the majority of veteran football students, is the greatest quarterback of all time—greater even than Walter Eckersall, the star of the West eight or ten years ago. Barrett is as good a punter as was Eckersall but the Western "edged" him slightly on drop kicking skill. However, Barrett is a line smasher—and Eckersall never was.

Those who take issue with the statement that Barrett is the greatest quarterback of all time need but to look at his scoring record for the season—161 points in nine games—scored against such big eleven as Michigan, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Washington & Lee.

To Eddie Mahan, the great Harvard captain, goes the fullbacking job. Mahan is the best all-around halfback seen in the East in many years. He can hit a line with terrific power, he is as speedy as Mercury of the Grecian days, he is a splendid punter and a drop kicker par excellence. Mahan rounded into form rather slowly this year but he played a wonderful game against Princeton and in the Yale game he reached the zenith of his wonderful career.

It may occasion surprise to find that we have selected DePrato of the Michigan Aggies, and Mayer of Virginia as teammates for Barrett and Mahan on the first eleven backfield. There are some who may be of the opinion that Bierman of Minnesota, Macomber of Illinois, Tibbett of Princeton, Taitman of Rutgers, Hastings of Pittsburgh, Oliphant of the Army, Shiverick and Collins of Cornell, Coffal of Notre Dame, Rutherford of Nebraska, King of Harvard and Scovill of Yale are better men. But have these persons compared carefully the records of the rival candidates?

DePrato a Backfield Marvel.

Jerry DePrato is the greatest scoring machine of the year. In six games he scored 130 points, an average greater than that compiled by the mighty Barrett. DePrato probably will go down in Western football history as one of the greatest players that ever booted a gridiron. There is nothing in a football way that he cannot do and do wonderfully well. His record shows that he scored an average of 22 points per game.
Against Yost's University of Michigan team DePrato played like a man possessed. He ripped to shreds the heavy Maize and Blue line, he skirted the ends almost at will, he out-punted the Michigan booter at least 10 yards in each exchange and when the final whistle blew the score was: DePrato, 24; Michigan, 0. This "Wildfire Halfback of the West" scored all the points against Michigan, making three touchdowns, three goals after touchdowns and one goal from field.
Mayer didn't get nation-wide publicity this season merely because he played on one of the so-called "minor" eleven. His total of 106 points scored in seven games speaks for itself, and the conversation becomes quite loud when it is remembered that Mayer played against Yale and Harvard as well as the most powerful eleven in the South. No line could throw back the plunges of this 170 pound Southerner. He was amazingly successful in his end runs and he had no peer on defensive play.

Helpful Hints for Christmas Gifts!

More people will do their Christmas shopping early this year than ever before. By all means, buy the largest items early, and pick up the knickknacks later.

WHAT COULD YOU BUY
That would be of better value or more serviceable than a nice pair of wool blankets? We were fortunate in securing another shipment of those superfine wool blankets direct from the factory, every one well worth a five dollar bill, selling this week for $4.50 pair; other good values, too, at $1.50, $1.97, $2.97, $3.97.

WHERE'S MY BATH ROBE?
It may be hanging on our rack this week, but somebody's going to get some bath robes this year for Christmas. We hope you'll get one of ours, because everybody says they are the finest ever. If you already have one, suppose you know somebody who hasn't. What's the price? Oh, yes, $3.50, $3.97, $4.50 and $4.97. Put one aside until Christmas week? Certainly. Thank you.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE FURS.
For a Christmas present? If anyone dares ask you, you, you wouldn't say, no, unless you already have a nice set. If you only want a muff, just say the word, if we can't sell a whole set, we'll gladly sell a muff and guarantee the money's worth everytime.

WISH I HAD A WORK BASKET.
"All right, you shall have one for Christmas. Just pick out the one you like best, etc." That's the talk we like to hear, and frequently do hear around Christmas time. Yes, they are pretty, let us show them.

THE NEWLYWEDS AND
the has-been-weds, and all the folks at home, like a home that's homelike. Nothing like a new rug to brighten up the sitting room, dining room or any other room in the house. We like to show rugs, and if you like to look at pretty rugs, just say "Rugs" to anybody in our store and they will gladly escort you to the rug department, where you will find little rugs and big rugs at the right prices.

HOW ABOUT CUT GLASS?
Certainly everybody likes cut glass. You couldn't make a mistake if you tried, because every piece is useful as well as ornamental: Pitchers, Bowls, Cruets, Tumblers, Vases, Sugar and Creams, Celery Dishes, Fern Dishes, etc.

licity this season merely because he played on one of the so-called "minor" eleven. His total of 106 points scored in seven games speaks for itself, and the conversation becomes quite loud when it is remembered that Mayer played against Yale and Harvard as well as the most powerful eleven in the South. No line could throw back the plunges of this 170 pound Southerner. He was amazingly successful in his end runs and he had no peer on defensive play.

Chamberlain's Great Record.
Chamberlain of Nebraska and captain of the Nebraska team, was the greatest pair of wing-men who operated in 1915. Chamberlain's record is an astonishing one. An end isn't supposed to do very much in a scoring way, yet in eight games Chamberlain scored 16 touchdowns—96 points—an average of two touchdowns per game. Chamberlain alone scored 13 points more in 8 games than the whole Yale team did in nine games; he alone scored 96 points in 8 games against 100 points in nine games for the whole University of Pennsylvania team.
Higgins scored only 24 points during the season, yet in all-around ability he ranked next to the great Chamberlain and he earned the job as mate for the Nebraska flank men as Shelton and Eckley of Cornell. Heyman of W. & J., Soucy and Harte of Harvard, Bastion of Minnesota, Squires of Illinois, Miller of the Michigan Aggies, Herron of Pittsburgh and Higley and Lambertson of Princeton.
Peck of Pittsburgh, in our opinion, is the peer of the several wonderful centers who starred this season. Peck, a roving player, is an extremely powerful man, yet he is almost as fast as any pair of ends. Very often he was down the field on punts ahead of his team. He's a fighting youngster, full of "pep" and he has uncanny power in guessing the plays of the enemy before they are actually under way.
Cool of Cornell, McEwan of the Army, Hanson of Minnesota and Watson of Illinois, all performed in a spectacular style throughout the 1915 season but Peck was a trifle superior in all-around play.

White and Spears are Husky.
The West produced some wonderful guards—Dunnigan of Minnesota and Fitzgerald of Notre Dame in particular—but in the final analysis White, the 256 pound Syracuse husky, and Spears, the 230 pound Dartmouth person, rank as their superiors. White and Spears are not so fast as Dunnigan and Fitzgerald but they are more powerful. No gains ever were made through them this year and neither ever failed to open a hole for the halfbacks when the order was given. Spears frequently was referred to as "The Dartmouth team." It was his playing that won many victories for the Green eleven.
Hogg of Princeton starred in the guard role this season, as did Dadd of Harvard, Sonpitt of Pittsburgh, Blocker of Purdue, Brodie of Chicago, Stewart of Illinois, Barron of Iowa, and Anderson of Cornell, but none was in a class with White and Spears.
Witherspoon of W. & J. and Buck of Wisconsin, are our choices for first team tackles. Witherspoon despite his 185 pounds is all second man. He's a sure and hard tackler, check fall of fighting spirit, a stopper on defense, and a wonder in following the ball. Fowlwell, the taciturn W. & J. coach, who rarely utters praise for a player, recently declared that Witherspoon was the best tackle he has ever seen throughout his gridiron career. And Fowlwell is a real judge of footballers.
Buck, the plucky Wisconsin leader, ranks as the best tackle the West
